* The application period is set for each office of the sending institution. The deadline of the applicants' institution might be earlier than the Tokyo NODAI deadline.

Applicants must contact their institutions' offices to confirm the details.

5. Contents of Study at Tokyo NODAI

- (1) Visiting (graduate) students must belong to a laboratory to study under the supervision of the respective host professor.
- (2) Visiting students (Undergraduate students ONLY) can register for their desired subjects. With the permission of the professors of each subject, all the courses are open to you in principle. Visiting students need to register during the designated period and can enroll for up to 40 credits per academic year.
Visiting graduate students could participate in the above courses as auditors with the permission of the professors of each subject; however, they cannot obtain credits.

6. Expenses Borne by the Visiting Students and Visiting Graduate Students

- (1) The program fee:
 - (a) The educational research fee is JPY10,000 per month. If a visiting student is enrolled for one day in a month, it is counted as one month.
 - (b) The registration fee is JPY30,000. Each credit costs JPY15,000.
 - (c) The program fees of (a) and (b) are waived if the home institution of visiting (graduate) students has a reciprocal tuition waiver agreement for Tokyo NODAI students.
 - (d) If additional experiments and practice fees are necessary, the visiting student shall pay the actual costs by consulting with the professor in charge. One credit of each experiment and practice course costs JPY10,000.
- (2) Transportation fees, including airfares to come to Japan and passport and visa acquisition expenses.
- (3) Expenses for accommodation, food and all other living expenses.
